First To See Coming Of Prince Of Peace

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25 — Beginning of the Year of Our Lord 1. — For centuries prophets have forecast the birth of a Christ Child and historians have made many references to the coming of a Messiah.

These are some of the names which have been applied to Him. Immanuel, Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace, The Lord of the Highest and Jesus.

Since the birth here today of the Wonderful Child and the excitement and rejoicing that

Magi Followed Star To Find Son Of Mary

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25 — Beginning of the Year of Our Lord 1. — The mysticism and beauty of the Orient has mingled with the simplicity and reverence of a little town made holy by a divine occurrence.

Three sages from the East, impressive in the richness of their many-colored silks and gold insignia, walked the dusty streets of Bethlehem today and told of their journeys across desert and plain to lay rare gifts at the feet of the tiny babe.

They spoke briefly and eloquently of the prophecy: "There shall come a star out of Jacob, and a scepter shall rise out of Israel," and they described the brilliance and comet-like action of this star which had arisen in the east, and which they had followed until it halted over the Judean city.

These three Magi who bear the names of Caspar, Melchior and Balthazar, were familiar with the Hebrew prophecies which foretold the advent of the Messiah, and had long waited for the star, they said. To prepare for the promised King of Israel, they sold their possessions and equipped a caravan.

Last night, surrounded by humble shepherds and barnyard animals, they fell to their knees and worshipped the young child with great joy, and presented him with frankincense, myrrh and gold.

When they were asked if the commonplace surroundings seemed out of keeping with Christ's significance, Melchior, this wise man, answered:

"The King we seek is not to be found in the palace, nor among the rich and powerful. If the light of the world and the glory of Israel had been appointed to come with earthly splendor, it must have happened long ago. For no son of Abraham will ever again rival the power which Joseph had in the palaces of Egypt or the magnificence of Solomon throned between the lions of Jerusalem. But the light for which the world is waiting is a new light, the glory that shall rise out of patient and triumphant suffering. And the kingdom

DOGS AND SHEEP OVERCOME BY CELESTIAL RADIANCE

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25 — Beginning of the Year of Our Lord 1. — The shepherds' dogs and sheep were overcome also by the strange light from heaven last night, the men report.

'Mary Smiled At Me!' Simply Clad Boy Says

NAZARETH, Dec. 25 — Beginning of the Year of Our Lord 1. — A young boy—one of the band of shepherds which was visited on the hill near here last night by a heavenly host of angels who told them of the birth of the baby prophet, was a shy narrator of events transpiring at the stables when the presence of the child became known.

Roughly clad, and plainly awed by his part in the divine drama, he gave the only clear impression gained of Mary, the mother of the Holy Child. The other shepherds were too inspired, and the wise men from the East too preoccupied with the identity of the infant to notice details which the eye of a child seized upon.

Everything seems so quiet in the stable," he replied to questions. "I noticed that even the pigeons didn't coo like they usually do."

"Did Mary or Joseph say anything to anyone?" he was asked.

The lad flushed, then confided: "Joseph asked me to help him fix the hay so it would be more comfortable, and then Mary smiled at me after she had been looking at the baby, and so I asked her if they didn't have better places in the inn. She answered low-like: 'There wasn't any room for us.'"

"I felt sorry for her; and then she smiled again and just whispered: 'But I like it here. The inn was so noisy, and the streets are full of loud people. The animals are peaceful. You mustn't feel sorry for us.'"

"I still feel strange. It is as though something too wonderful to talk about has happened to me, I can't explain it. But I feel so peaceful inside."

Messiah Comes Into World Torn By Internal Strife

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25 — Beginning of the Year of Our Lord 1. — Christ was born last night. They say he is a King, Into a world torn with strife, into a dictator-ridden country that trembles at the clashing swords of Rome, has come the ray of light so long awaited by the troubled people.

It is a far cry from the golden pillars of Solomon's temple to the crude stalls of a cattle barn.

For hundreds of years the memories and tales of the glories of ancient Jerusalem have been treasured in the hearts of a scattered race. For generations they have unrolled their papyrus scrolls and reassured themselves that one day a Redeemer of Mankind would restore their kingdom. With mighty armies He would vanquish a tyrant Caesar, and rebuild their shining city.

They thought of Him in terms of shining raiment and a golden throne; they didn't expect swaddling clothes and manger hay.

They could see Him proclaimed by heralds with silver trumpets; they didn't think his companions could be rough-haired oxen and sleepy-eyed goats.

They expected urns of smoldering incense, but not the aroma of a stable.

Multitudes would prostrate themselves on the ground in His presence, they believed; they didn't suppose that a harried innkeeper would suggest that the royal family sleep in the barn because all of his rooms were full of taxpayers.

Some say that this baby born last night to Mary and Joseph of Nazareth couldn't possibly be the Messiah foretold in Scriptures. But there are others who remember the words of the prophet Isaiah, of Jeremiah and of Micah and with unshakable joy hail Him as the Saviour of Israel.

Mary And Joseph Both Descendants Of Royal Line

NAZARETH, Dec. 25 — Beginning of the Year of Our Lord 1. — An apprehensive Herod sits on the throne of Judah, and is much disturbed at the miraculous birth of Jesus in Bethlehem.

This was brought to light with the recent visit here of sages from the East who were seeking the newborn King of the Jews. Having heard of their inquiries, Herod hastily called together his chief priests and scribes who write the laws, and demanded them to tell him more of the prophecies of Christ's coming.

Then he summoned the wise men for questioning, and led them to believe that, if they would go to Bethlehem, discover the Child and return and tell him about it, he would journey there himself to pay homage.

Those who heard Herod's interview with these Eastern wise men say he was given only evasive answers.

Political commentators say it is understandable that Herod should feel uneasy at the rise of a leader who will capture the imagination of a discouraged people. His reign has been a singularly unhappy one due to the pressure from Rome.

The Emperor Augustus has lately accumulated foreign property and subjects through a campaign of military invasions and controls about all in this part of the world that is worth taking. This has occupied the minds of the people, but has increased Roman extravagance. Palestine is one of these conquered countries and Herod is the King of Augustus's own choosing.

Some regard Herod's fear of a ruler who will overthrow him in a material sense as being unfounded.

They maintain that the significance of the Messiah is spiritual rather than political, and point out that he has always been prophesied as a Shepherd of Souls rather than a military deliverer.

Herod's nature, these commentators say, makes it impossible for him to understand a Prince of Peace.

GREAT JOY PERVADES CITY OF BETHLEHEM

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25 — Beginning of the Year of Our Lord 1. — It is impossible to describe the feeling of great joy that pervades Bethlehem today as the coming of the long-heralded Messiah is realized by the majority of its inhabitants.

The shepherds probably experienced the most poignant sensation for it was to them that the news was first given. The little group who were guarding their flocks from foxes and wolves that still roam the hills of Palestine, speak with great wonder of last night's message from the sky.

The amazing light together with the chanting of a heavenly host has brought on incoherence to their speech; but the radiance of their faces is more impressive than any words could be.

"An angel of the Lord suddenly flashed before us and the glory of the Lord shone all around us," one of them said. "We were frightened but the angel said, 'Have no fear. This is good news. I am bringing to you news of great joy that is meant for all the people. Today you have a savior born in the town of David, the Lord, Messiah. And here is a proof to you: you will find a baby wrapped up and lying in a stall for cattle.'"

"Then a host of heaven's army suddenly appeared beside the angel, extolling God and saying, 'Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.'"

"Having sung this song, the angel went back to heaven, the light faded away, and all was dark as before."

"We began talking together about these strange sights and sounds," the shepherd related. "We didn't stop to think what would happen to our flocks, or wait until morning, we went at once. When we saw all was as the angel had said, we told everyone about it."

"The whole atmosphere here has been one of unusual excitement for the past few days since that was the time decreed by Augustus Caesar for all taxpayers in Judea to be registered. Mary and Joseph, being of the house of David, were required to come to Bethlehem, and although Mary was an expectant mother, and the 50-mile journey from Nazareth in Galilee was extremely arduous for her, the urgency of the order was such that they dare not say no."

From the meager details gained from keepers of public places, it appears that Joseph had failed to make any reservations for lodging. The low temperature of the winter night forced them to the stable where they made themselves as comfortable as they could in the straw. They suffered no ill effects from the experience, however, and those who visited the little family after the birth became known, report that an aura of light transformed the dingy surroundings into a place of beauty.

Herod's spies said departing hurriedly for Jerusalem

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25 — Beginning of the Year of Our Lord 1. — Several known spies and two synchophants of the court of King Herod, who for the greater part of the morning have been furtively watching the stable wherein the King of Glory rests in his swaddling clothes, left on camels bound presumably for Jerusalem.

Herod is known to be extremely interested in the journeys of the Magi to Bethlehem.

The infant, born to Mary, a Jewish girl from Nazareth, who is the wife of Joseph, a carpenter, was first discovered by a group of shepherds who received the news of His birth from a band of angels while they were tending their flocks in the low-lying hills outside the city.

Descending in a blaze of heavenly glory that prostrated the little group of men and boys with amazement, the divine visitors told them not to be afraid but to go to the stable in Bethlehem, where they would find the Christ in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger.

This the shepherds did, being guided all the way by an angel. There they found the child, but recently born, with his parents and stable animals. So deep was the conviction of the angel's message upon them, that they immediately accepted him as the promised Savior, and fell upon their knees and worshipped him.

Following in quick succession the visit of the shepherds was a caravan of wise men, or Magi, from humble birthplace bearing jewels and precious gifts. To them too, this was a long-awaited event, since they are close students of astronomy, and were watching for the star. When it appeared they regarded it as the sign that the child had been born which the prophet had foretold.

While the largest part of the population here is talking of the event in tones of unsurpassed awe, and plainly regard it as a means by which they will be delivered from their Roman oppressor, there are many who are frankly skeptical. They feel that the future Christ will come from a more significant source.

The whole atmosphere here has been one of unusual excitement for the past few days since that was the time decreed by Augustus Caesar for all taxpayers in Judea to be registered. Mary and Joseph, being of the house of David, were required to come to Bethlehem, and although Mary was an expectant mother, and the 50-mile journey from Nazareth in Galilee was extremely arduous for her, the urgency of the order was such that they dare not say no.

PLANNERS REJECT TROPICO LOT SIZE REDUCTION PLEA

SAN DIEGO (CNS) — A proposal to reduce lot sizes in the Tropico dr. area of Spring Valley below the half-acre size established in the neighborhood was turned down Friday by the County Planning Commission.

The commission turned down a request by the Brock Construction Co. to rezone 2.85 acres from E-1-A, single-family residential with a half-acre minimum building site, to R-1, single-family residential with a 10,000 square foot minimum.

The Brock property is located on the north side of a private road easement, which is also a neighborhood issue because some property owners say the developer has not secured easements to use the road from all affected owners.

Some of the Tropico Drive residents protested the adoption of a tentative map for the subdivision.

division, because it was proposed that Tropico be used as one of the outlets for the subdivision. Most felt the street was too narrow to carry additional traffic.

Pat N. Hyndman, of 9475 Tropico dr., told the subdivision's representative that the neighbors did not oppose his project, "although we are not charmed by it". He said they hoped that some other road besides Tropico would be used as one of the access routes to the subdivision.

Robert H. Hubbell, of 9320 Tropico dr., said that when two cars were parked on the street, there was barely enough room for a third one to pass. He said this obviously was not a street large enough to handle additional traffic.

The commission turned down the zoning request, but approved the subdivision tentative map.

End Of Mourning Not End Of Sadness

The official mourning period for former President John F. Kennedy is over but it will take years to assess the impact his untimely death had on the world.

The reaction was great among political leaders because his assassination wrought great changes in political philosophy, leadership and political management, but to the Tom Joneses and the Robert Smiths, the residual effect is hard to measure.

Once we look beyond the governing group in any nation anywhere on this globe, we find people with much the same make-up. These are mostly people who love other people, who love fun and who have a tremendous drive to improve their lot.

Even the most unfortunate have a strong feeling of human kindness ever alert to aid those who are less fortunate than they.

There is certainly no scale by which to measure the sadness created among these people by John Kennedy's death but it is much deeper than most news media led us to believe. We learned this as we opened our Christmas cards this year. Many of them contained messages of grief which explained: "We just can't get into the Spirit of Christmas this year because the Awful Thing..."

The official period of mourning is over but the dreadful empty feeling of loss remains.

District Attorney Attacks State's Welfare Practices At Men's Club

A scathing attack on the State's welfare program was delivered Friday to the Lemon Grove Men's Club to an overflow crowd.

The attacker was Don Keller, San Diego's fire-breathing district attorney who charged that "the governor (Pat Brown) hasn't the remotest idea of what the new welfare legislation is doing to the people and to the morals of this state."

Keller said that while his office was prosecuting 100 to 200 fraud cases of felony size, ranging in the $10,000 to $25,000 category, Welfare issued a memorandum instructing its department to "give relief first and to check up later. If the recipient is proven ineligible, try to get the funds back," Keller said were the welfare workers instructions.

Keller spelled out cases of fraud, dishonesty, illegitimacy and connivance in welfare cases that had come into his department's purview. He said the most liberalized welfare program in the nation had stemmed from AB 59, the Burton Bill, which started as a 15 line Bill and came out as 27 pages, giving away the property of the State's pensioners, wage earners and thrifty persons.

"No one should be deprived of the necessities of life but there is no rhyme nor reason to support these people until these people have exerted all efforts to help themselves," Keller said. He said the new philosophy of the Welfare Department is not concerned with the size of the estate of the recipient. He said money in the bank does not disqualify welfare patrons. The recipient can keep any funds he possesses and still be eligible under the new, broader rules.

"I think it unfair and unreasonable for the Governor and the Legislature to put such a burden on wage earners and business people without requiring the welfare recipient to first use his own earnings to support himself," Keller said.

Another liberalization of the program is that the applicant

L.G. Request For S.D. TO ABSORB L.G.? Variance Refused

SAN DIEGO (CNS) — Earl Hanson was denied permission Friday by the County Planning Commission to reduce his side-yard requirement for a house on the n.e. corner of Fisher Ln. and Roosevelt ave., Lemon Grove, after neighbors objected.

The neighbors were from the Lemon Grove Congregational Church, which is located across Fisher Lane.

Charles McMahon, church spokesman, said that a building had already been located on the property. He said the church had been required to post bond that the street would be widened and their own building set back to the standard distance for a 60-foot street.

The Rev. E. Walter Smith said that the location of the building made it appear that Hanson was estimating a new centerline for the street.

The Planning Department reported that a building permit had been issued showing the sideyard to be 35 feet from the centerline of Fisher Lane, but after the foundation was established it was determined that an error had been made in the measurement.

Annexation To City Of San Diego Termed 'Good Deal' -- For S.D.

SAN DIEGO (CNS) — The possibility of annexing Lemon Grove to the City of San Diego came under scrutiny of the City Council again last week.

Councilman Allen Hitch observed that from the information he had at hand he believed the area could be termed "a good deal for San Diego".

Hitch's remark came during a joint meeting between the council and the City Planning Commission over San Diego's annexation policies.

Vice-Mayor Ivor de Kirby had asked Hitch if he thought the area would be an economically sound area to be annexed.

After considerable discussion, the council decided to continue its policy to furnish "study data" on the advantages of annexation, but to avoid any active advocacy of such annexation.

The council also rejected a suggestion to charge an annexation fee based on acreage for new areas brought into the city.

Hitch said he opposed spending large sums of money on annexation studies only to have them fail later, but City Manager Tom Fletcher said that these studies would not cost more than $3,000.

Fletcher said the long-range advantage of annexing an area should be the criteria used for deciding whether it should be added to a city.

No advocates of annexation to San Diego have made themselves known publicly.

A group announced in the early Fall their intention to circulate petitions for the incorporation of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley into two separate cities.

PORPOISE FEEDER — Burke Ormsby, program

DENIZENS OF THE DEEP CAVORT IN SEA WORLD PREVIEW

by Max Goodwin

I guess I'm the only reporter in San Diego county ever bitten by a porpoise.
It wasn't a very big bite and I've had a dog bite more severe but the porpoise scared me more than the dog did.
How did it happen?
That's simple. I was feeding a porpoise and he nipped my hand.
The porpoise is a nine-footer named Snorter and luckily, Snorter is a gentle beast. I was feeding Snorter because the photographer told me to. We reporters have faith in everyone. Even porpoises and photographers. The photographer, Ted Lau, told me to hold a piece of fish over the lagoon where Snorter performs and he would take the picture when the beast jumped out of the water and took the fish out of my hand.
"Look up here and smile,"
he said.

I felt something at my elbow.
It was the point of the porpoise's nose. The rest of my arm was down his mouth. Snorter's teeth scraped my hand and broke the skin. I shed a few drops of blood to prove it.
Why was I feeding my pal Snorter? Well, the press was invited to a preview of Sea World in Mission Bay Park
where the $4.5 million facility is nearing completion. When it is done it will be one of San Diego's major tourist attractions.
Reporters were invited to make the five trained porpoises perform. They can stand on their tails atop the water (the porpoises, not the reporters) if you hold a piece of fish up. The photographers made pictures for the articles the reporters were sure to run. I was assigned to one of the better trained (thank Heaven) animals.

That's how I was paired off with Snorter. While I was looking at the birdie, ole Snorter shot all the way out of the water and took his fish.
Snorter and hundreds of other denizens of the deep will cavort
for visitors when Sea World opens March 21. One of the features will be Snorter and other porpoises who will perform in a 260-foot-long lagoon for guests.
There will also be a theatre-in-the-round where spectators will view a combination of skin-diving girls and sea life through 20-foot picture windows from theatre seats located on all four sides. The show will also include porpoises and scenery changes under water. There will be four different types of underwater shows in the building. Girl divers equipped with scuba gear will perform with the fish and the girls will explain the show to the audience
through underwater microphones.
There are several other marine attractions including a hydrofoil boat ride on Mission Bay, a shark and octopus tank,
a casting pool with underwater windows and lounge buildings.
There is also a pearl farm with Japanese girl pearl divers.
There is one nice thing about Sea World being open to the paying public ($2 down to .60), they won't have to feed the porpoises.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:
Picture if you will a huge Christmas present that is already to be opened by some unsuspecting person. As the colored paper and fancy ribbons are removed, we find at the top,
branches from a Christmas tree,
below that some colored lights,
then a picture of Santa, then a company bonus, several toys, then an empty bottle from the party the night before. As we dig further toward the bottom we pass unpaid bills, new clothes, appliances, Christmas cards, candy and mistletoe. As we reach towards the bottom of this huge box that contains everything that seems to represent Christmas, we find a small, plain, old box, just about the size that would hold a new born babe, attached to the box is a card, which reads as follows:
To my people, I give my baby Son Jesus Christ. He is born for you and he shall die for you so that you may live. Signed, your Heavenly Father.
Hasn't the true meaning of Christmas lost its place among the glitter and glamour of today? I ask you, shouldn't Christ be on top??

Bureau of Electronic Repair Dealers Registration Advisory Board was set up.

Said Gov. Brown, "The creation of the board is another milestone in our consumer counsel's program to provide protection for the buyer."

"The work of the bureau," he added, "is aimed at those few dishonest dealers who take advantage of an unwitting public."

The Governor has a good theory - - as good as the theories he had when he gave life to the myriad other agencies by which California life is controlled.

These bureaus, agencies, councils, departments, boards and committees are given authority as they are given life and they act as prosecutor, judge and jury.

There is nothing unusual about the Bureau of Electronic Repair Dealers Bureau in respect to starting from scratch with only a governmental idea. Nor is there anything new about the police and law making powers the bureau has been given within the short time since it was conceived. Nor is there anything odd about the eight pages of rules and regulations (laws)
the bureau produced of itself. Scores of other State authorities have done the same in years past. It must have been expected by the persons who come within the bureau's control that some fee would be levied - - and it was. All electronic repair firms who serve the public received in the mail just before Christmas, a demand for $35 as registration costs with reference to one of the sections (9850) in the bill which threatens the dealer with as much as $1,000 fine and six months in the pokey if he fails to comply.

Whatever else it does it will add to the cost of having your teevees, radio or electrical appliance repaired.

Our report on the bureau isn't offered as news. Similar State bureaus have been conceived for almost everything else.
Its members were convoked without an election, as is the State's custom. We report it here because it's the state's newest arm.
And because it is a good example of how you are getting more and more government whether you need it or not.

Pesticide Story Has Another Side

Southern California is rife with the cult that believes that organically grown food is the most.

Part of this philosophy is that the insecticides used to keep down pests on ground-grown food is insidiously hazardous and that no intelligent eater should be caught dead with food in the house that has been sprayed with pesticides.

Be that as it may, there's another edge of the spectrum and converts there say: a). pesticides are absolutely vital to California food production; b). they can be hazardous when improperly used, and c). the recent hue and cry over their dangers have been greatly exaggerated.

All this was decided recently in San Francisco at the Statewide Pesticide Conference called by the California Chamber of Commerce.

Among the witnesses was R. Z. Rollins, chief of the chemistry division of the State Department of Agriculture who offered a "not guilty" plea to Rachel Carson's indictment of pesticides in her recent best-selling book, "Silent Spring."

Rollins said that reports of wholesale deaths to fish after pesticide spraying have grossly blown up "A few local problems" and wildlife deaths have been greatly overplayed.

"There is no known case of anyone's being poisoned by pesticide residues in foods. The apprehension that has been expressed is more a fear of what might happen than what has happened," he added.

He conceded that there had been 150 deaths a year from direct exposure to pesticides but half of those were children getting into bottles and cans left around homes.

Edwin Diamond, senior editor of NEWSWEEK was science editor for the magazine and collaborated with Miss Carson for a short while during the early stages of preparing "Silent Spring".
He broke with her after he determined that she "already had a thesis in mind and was out to demonstrate it," he testified. He declared the book to be "sensational, alarmist, emotional and one-sided. If I had my choice between a few dead robins and cleaning up malaria cases (with pesticides), my sympathy would be on the side of the people," he added.

G. P. Whitlock, head of the family and consumer sciences program of the U. of C. Extension Service estimated that 90 per cent of the food grown by man could be destroyed by pests if continual wars were not waged against the pests.

The hue and cry was raised by the anti-pesticideists. We thought another side ought to be related, too.

Nature of Christianity Christian Science Topic

The scientific nature of Christianity will be explored in next Sunday's Bible Lesson at all Christian Science churches. Scriptural readings will include this verse from Isaiah (51:4): "Hearken unto me, my people; and give ear unto me, O my nation: for a law shall proceed from me, and I will make my judgment to rest for a light of the people."

Selections from the denominational textbook will include these lines: "Our Master taught no mere theory, doctrine, or belief. It was the divine Principle of all real being which he taught and practiced" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 26).

The Lesson is entitled, "Christian Science".

JOURNEY with JILL

THROUGH THE SUBURBS

Give ear, O thou who wishest to journey unto the market place before the final hour is come. Favourably regard the VALLEY, the GROVE and the GARDENS; seek ye also the CENTER, and the UPTOWN paths for thy bargain seeking. Thou mayest find there the pleasures thy heart longeth for.

Woman! Make thyself comely. Let thyself go unto STYLES UNLIMITED at 9029 CAMPO ROAD for thy gay Christmas and New Year Hair-Style. A good set with an artistic comb-out is the secret. Allow Lucille, Jan, or Yvonne to be thy Santa Claus. Pick ye up the phone now!!! 463-5795.

Also set forth thy feet upon the path to the bazaar known as WARREN MAPLE SHOP... 7907 BROADWAY in the village of Lemon Grove. Thou shalt find there thy pride of possession in their newly acquired Cal-Shops line of fine furniture, along with other well known brands of Early American furnishings. Thou mayest find just what thou seekest for thy timepiece; or, a swag, pole, or table-lamp to light the darkness, for new shipments have arrived and are awaiting thy inspection.

For thy greatest enjoyment to herald in the New Year, make haste unto thy telephone and reserve thyself a place among those who may partake of all food and drink thou canst consume from 9 p.m. 'til closing at San Diego's biggest New Year's party at the WOODEN NICKEL STEAK RANCH... 8290 BROADWAY also located in the village of Lemon Grove. Journey alone for $8.00 or take with thee thy companion for $15.00... When thou wakest next morning, return again between the hours of ten and two for thy breakfast shall be there awaiting thee with compliments of the proprietor.

I spake with Keith Bodily, master of KEITH'S RECORD DEN... 7921 BROADWAY in the village of Lemon Grove this past fortnight Master Bodily related to me his intention of offering many bargains unto the populace, for the time has come to make reduction of the inventory. There shall be record albums for $3.98, the bargain price of which customarily remaineth at $4.98... There shall also be others which tempteth thy moneybags... Master Bodily quoteth the $3.98 albums shall be offered for $2.98.

Therefore, make haste unto Master Bodily's shop between the days of Christmas and New Years to make use of his listening rooms before thou spendest thy shekels. Consider also the purchase of a Stereo Record Player, a string for thy Guitar, perhaps a transistor radio or other accessories.

And... A MERRY, MERRY CHRISTMAS to you, ONE AND ALL... That is, if I am not too tongue-tied by this time to be able to say it.

als to individuals in the tournament and a sweepstakes perpetual trophy will go to the winning school, as well as trophies to 1st, 2nd and 3rd places.

"This is a unique activity in the area, and I feel confident that wide public acceptance, as well as benefit to the participants from the schools involved, will follow the establishment of this tournament, which I hope will become an annual event," says Mickey Shelley, Wrestling Coach of Grossmont College and organizer of the event.

Mount Miguel Team Ties Grossmont in Wrestling

by Neil Good

With a slight tear of reminiscence, former wrestling coach Stuart Rubine saw the Mount Miguel wrestling team tie Grossmont 20-20 in the first league meet at Miguel, Dec. 20.

John Harter of Mount Miguel started the meet off with a fast clip when he pinned Grossmont's Fred Scharnhorst in 1 minute 18 seconds in the second period.

Mount Miguel's Charles La Gamma followed Harter with a 9-4 victory over Danny Reed to bring the score 8-0 in favor of the Matadors.

However, Grossmont came back strong in the 3rd and 4th matches to narrow the lead by following Miguel 11-0.

Mount Miguel continued to maintain a 3 point margin over Grossmont until the heavy weight division when Irving Little of Grossmont pinned Miguel's Carl Black in 1 minute and 2 seconds of the second period to tie the meet 20-20.

Student Ham Operator Says Hobby Brings Friendships

"My greatest satisfaction is all the friends I've made," James Brady, Mount Miguel freshman said of his hobby as a short wave radio operator.

Jim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Farris Brady of 3539 Fairway dr., La Mesa, became interested in "ham" radio when he saw a friend's set. He earned money for his set which he purchased two years ago by working as a groundsman for people, and performing other odd jobs. When he finally got half the needed amount, his mother agreed to give him the remainder of the $500.

Some additional expenses faced by a ham operator are the purchase of an FCC license and its yearly renewal; a manual on short wave; and the antenna for the set. Jim commented that the cost for a good set such as his, which will reach as far as San Francisco, runs up to $800 while the cost of a cross-country set ranges from $700 to $1,000.

"I find myself in odd spots at times," chuckled Jim, "such as the times I interrupt someone else's frequency!" Other interesting and sometimes embarrassing situations he has found himself in are picking up mobile stations acting as a middle man and not saying his call letters correctly.

Jim has become interested in radio work with the military because of his enjoyment of his hobby.

Lobbyists Spent $1.3 Million

by Senator Jack Schrade

That legislative whipping-boy, the lobbyist, was again brought under the lash during our general session last spring. Not to be outshowered by the sex scandal then rocking British governmental circles, our newspapers alleged that unidentified California lobbyists had made use of illegal feminine companionship to influence legislation. An Attorney-General's investigation made later turned up no evidence of truth in the allegation.

Independently of this probe, the Senate Committee on Legislative Representation announced that it would make a full-scale study of lobbying, to determine among other things the level of current practice in the field, the effectiveness of the laws controlling legislative advocates, and the desirability of making changes either in the law or its administration, or in the applicable rules of both Houses of the Legislature.

Our State Constitution specifically defines bribery of a legislator as "lobbying", and makes it a felony. Equally, it makes acceptance of a bribe by a legislator a felony, conviction of which also brings disenfranchisement in addition to other penalties. The Penal Code makes either giving of a bribe to influence a legislative vote, or its acceptance, a felony punishable by penitentiary confinement.

The law which requires paid legislative advocates to register with both Houses, and to file monthly reports of their compensation and expenditures was first enacted in 1949. It now contains a Code of Ethics, violation of which is supposed to bring revocation of the advocates' credentials. The law requires registration with the Secretary of the State and with the Chief Clerk of the Assembly, but this procedure has been simplified, so that the Legislative Analyst's office does the clerical work connected with receiving registrations and monthly reports. Under the joint rules of both Houses, his responsibility is strictly limited to this "ministerial" function.

At its first hearing, the committee heard from a number of witnesses, spokesmen from state government, as well as registered advocates themselves. One of the Governor's secretaries reported to the group the chief executive's horror over the fact that registered lobbyists are estimated to have spent a total of $1.3 million during the 1963 session. Saying that it is time to take a long, searching look at spending by lobbyists, the Governor recommended that the law be amended to require them to report their contributions to election campaigns of Legislators, as well as their Secretaries, to expenditures. He also said he believes the word "lobbying" has invidious connotations.

These statements were promptly challenged by the Dean of the University Law School. First, the latter said he did not feel the total expenditure by lobbyists was high enough. "If we can get the necessary information to the Legislature for $5 or $10 million, that's a bargain," he said. He added that the only reason the word lobbying has invidious connotations is that people like the Governor keep saying so.

The lobbyists who spoke were unanimous that existing law serves the desired purpose very well, and argued against the suggestion of the Attorney-General that more detailed reporting of expenditures be required. The Legislative Analyst reported that his office could handle any increased work the Committee might recommend very easily and economically.
